MARK E. REED SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED

Seattle, Wash. - Mark E. Reed Scholarships were recently awarded in each of Green Diamond Resource Company's operating areas. The recipients each received $3,000 to use toward higher education. The scholarships were awarded by the program's state boards.

This is the 75th year that scholarships have been presented in memory of Mark E. Reed, who was Simpson Logging Company's president from 1914 until his passing in 1933. Reed played a significant part in the history and development of the company and influenced the education of many young people in across the communities in which Green Diamond has a presence.

To be eligible for the scholarship, an individual must be a Green Diamond employee, a son or daughter of an employee, or reside in one of the company's operating communities.

Scholarships may be used for tuition, books or living expenses incurred while pursuing education beyond high school. Award recipients must attend school on a full-time basis during the academic year of the scholarship.
