Five recipients of the 2017 Mark E. Reed Scholarship Awards were recently named by the program's Oregon Board, according to Ursula Walters, board chairman. The winners each received $3,000 awards on May 12, 2017, after touring Green Diamond Resource Company timberlands and a lunch celebration at Green Diamond Oregon Operations main office.

The ORO scholarship recipients are:

Aimee Bruner, a current student of Oregon Institute of Technology majoring in Renewable Energy Engineering and a 2016 Henley High School graduate. Amy is a previous year recipient. Her mother is Christina Bruner.

Kylee Souders, a current student of Boise State University majoring in Mathematics with an emphasis in secondary education and a 2016 Klamath Union High School graduate. Kylee is a previous year recipient. Her parents are Scott and Julie Souders.

Trinity Orcutt, a graduate of Mazama High School who plans on attending Oregon Institute of Technology majoring in Nursing. Her parents are Jason and Heather Orcutt.

Ryan Wells, a graduate of Bonanza High School who plans on attending Oregon State University majoring in Agricultural Sciences. His parents are John and LaVonne Wells.

Starla Chambrose, a graduate of Henley High School who plans on attending University of Oregon majoring in Biology. Her parents are Robert and Ju Chambrose.
